A LEED Accredited Professional™ (LEED AP) and a LEED Green Associate are individuals who have successfully completed the LEED AP and LEED GA exams and possess the knowledge and skills necessary to participate in a LEED project. Developed by the U.S. Green Building Council (USGBC), Leadership in Energy and Environmental Design (LEED) provides building owners and operators a concise framework for identifying and implementing practical and measurable green building design, construction, operations and maintenance solutions. LEED is an internationally recognized green building certification system, providing third-party verification that a building or community was designed and constructed using strategies aimed at improving performance in energy savings, water efficiency, CO₂ emissions reduction, improved indoor environmental quality, stewardship of resources and recognition of environmental impacts. The exams were launched by the USGBC in 2001 and 2009 respectively and are administered by the Green Building Certification Institute to recognize, through an accreditation process, individual understanding of LEED requirements, principles, processes and resources.
